

AXIOM TELECOM, BRIGHTSTAR CORP., DANGAARD TELECOM & RADIOSHACK FORM NEW GLOBAL WIRELESS ALLIANCE

BRAXDA Telecom Creates Powerful Alliance for the Telecommunications Industry Worldwide, Represents Over 70,000 Points of Sale

FORT WORTH, PADBORG, DUBAI, MIAMI - March 6, 2006 – Axiom Telecom, Brightstar Corp., Dangaard Telecom, & RadioShack Corporation (NYSE: RSH) today announce the formation of BRAXDA Telecom, a distribution, supply chain and retail alliance built to serve the wireless telecommunications industry worldwide.

The four founding members, each leaders in their respective markets, collectively purchase over 50 million handsets annually, serving 52 countries and reaching over 70,000 points of sale worldwide. Together, the four companies exceeded $10 billion in revenues in 2005.

“The scale and scope of BRAXDA Telecom, and our members’ expertise in the markets they serve, make a powerful alliance that will be focused on accelerating wireless worldwide,” said Brightstar president & CEO R. Marcelo Claire.

BRAXDA Telecom is owned, equally divided, among the four founding companies, each with a dominating market position in its region. BRAXDA’s current membership includes:

Axiom Telecom – the largest retailer and distribution services company in the Middle East

Brightstar – the largest wireless distribution and supply chain management company serving the wireless industry

Dangaard Telecom – the largest European distribution and supply chain management company

RadioShack Corporation – the leading wireless consumer electronics retailer serving consumers throughout North America

The Board of Directors of BRAXDA includes: Faisal Al Bannai, CEO Axiom Telecom; R. Marcelo Claire, President & CEO, Brightstar; Michaél Koehn Milland, COO, Dangaard Telecom Holding A/S; and Andy Berman, vice president of RadioShack Corporation.

“The founding companies are excited about the potential for this new alliance, and we are actively seeking high-growth companies in the wireless arena to join us in this venture. Increasing the reach of the alliance will benefit both consumers and manufacturers,” said Faisal al Bannai, founder and CEO of Axiom Telecom.

The BRAXDA Telecom organization was founded to assist manufacturers, retailers and operators in accelerating products to market. Additionally, members seek to share best practices to increase operational efficiencies and will investigate the feasibility of entering new markets in the future.

“We wish to provide our loyal partners among our suppliers with even greater opportunities. At the same time, we intend to give our retail customers access to a new range of products and services,” says COO Michaél Køehn Milland, Dangaard Telecom.

“As a leading wireless retailer, we are constantly looking for ways to lower cost and bring innovative products to our customers,” Jim Hamilton, RadioShack Executive Vice President of Merchandising and Marketing.

BRAXDA Telecom members are also seeking to identify additional members who can enhance the overall mission and vision of the alliance. For more information on membership qualifications, please visit www.braxda.com.
