

Redline Communications Teams Up With Brightstar

TORONTO, CANADA - October 20, 2003 - Redline Communications, an innovative provider of next-generation broadband fixed wireless equipment, today announced an expansion of its sales and service coverage of the Latin America and Caribbean Region, with the signing of a multi-year distribution agreement with Brightstar Corporation.

Brightstar is a leading distributor of wireless products and provider of value added services. Recognized in Inc. 500 as one of the fastest-growing private companies in the country, the company operates 20 facilities in 16 countries throughout South America, Central America, the Caribbean and the United States. Brightstar's customer base includes 160 network operators and nearly 15,000 distributors, agents, resellers, and retailers around the world.

"By leveraging the strength of the Brightstar brand in combination with the company's industry expertise, we can now better address the growing demand for broadband fixed wireless solutions in the region," said Paul Obert, Redline's VP Sales. "Redline's products are ideally suited for high performance wireless solutions and now with Brightstar, customers in South America, Central America and the Caribbean get access to excellent local service and sales support," said Obert.

"Redline's products are a great addition to the Brightstar product line," said Brightstar's Mike Tate, VP of Wireless Data. "Redline's products provide a combination of robust OFDM technology, long range capability, very high speed, and cost effectiveness. Their license exempt wireless devices complement the solutions of Brightstar's portfolio of products."

With a portfolio of complementary wireless solutions and as a well-known and respected total wireless solutions provider, Brightstar is an ideal company to deliver the rich functionality offered by the Redline's point-to-point and point-to-multi-point broadband solutions the AN-30, AN-50. Brightstar will immediately begin offering Redline's broadband solutions to its customers.